BE PART OF IT!

Elephant Parade has always aimed to spread messages of hope, positivity, and creativity through art. We believe in the power of our elephants to help create a brighter future.

With a long lineup of exhibitions held in various countries each year, we are grateful for the continued public interest. Given the changes in the world and the challenges humanity faces, our mission may be more relevant now than ever before.

We are proud to present the new 2025 Sales Catalogue, now conveniently organized in alphabetical order. We've added 10 stunning new designs that showcase exceptional beauty and craftsmanship. Among them is the design Hugs, created by street artist Joe for Elephant Parade Hua Hin. (Be sure to check out the fascinating blog post on our website about his life and the inspiration behind this design.)

Additionally, we have successfully brought Vincent van Gogh's iconic masterpiece Starry Night to life on an elephant—a true showstopper that is sure to amaze everyone!

Our money banks have been given a fresh new look, and we are excited to introduce three modern designs—perfect as gifts for adults, children, birthdays, or (newborn) celebrations.

The silicone keyrings are making a comeback! Alongside our resin keyrings and the brand-new Infinity Chrome keyrings, they form a fantastic collection. Plus, our ever-popular tote bags now feature even more colorful and cheerful designs.

At the end of the catalogue, you'll find an exclusive, one-time collection of Classics. These are available at special conditions—but act fast, as stock is limited!

For nearly twenty years, our free art exhibitions and hand-painted miniature elephants have brought joy to millions while supporting elephant welfare.

We sincerely appreciate your loyalty and support, and we hope that the 2025-2026 collection not only strengthens our collaboration but also sparks enthusiasm within your network.

Best regards,

René de Wit

Director, Elephant Parade

LET'S PAINT A BRIGHTER FUTURE!

Elephant Parade® is a social enterprise and runs the world's largest art exhibition of decorated elephant statues. Created by artists and celebrities, each Elephant Parade statue is a unique art piece. The life-size, baby elephant statues are exhibited in international cities and raise awareness for the need for elephant conservation.

Limited edition, handcrafted replicas and a select range of products are created from the exhibition elephants. 20% of Elephant Parade net profits are donated to elephant welfare and conservation projects.

Be part of it.

HAND- CRAFTED REPLICAS

EACH ELEPHANT
PARADE STATUE IS A UNIQUE PIECE OF HANDCRAFTED ART!

After our first Elephant Parade exhibitions, it became very clear that many people loved our elephants. But unfortunately, not everyone could afford to purchase an original life sized baby elephant. So we decided to reproduce the elephants into replicas so that our elephants were accessible to a larger audience. And they could take a special memento from our exhibitions with them.

All our replicas are hand-crafted in Chiang Mai, Thailand by a team of skilled artisans. Not every parade elephant is re-invented as some elephants are too detailed or the style is too complicated. Prices vary due to the complexity of the design.

Elephant Parade makes a selection of which elephants will be reproduced for retail, always in agreement with the original artists.

Please note that there are different price ranges within a particular replica size. This is because some designs are more complex and take more time to make.

ONCE UPON A STAR

Mosha with her mahout.

Mosha means star in the Karen language and is the name of the world's first elephant to have received a prosthetic leg after having lost a limb to a landmine on the Thai-Myanmar border.

When Mosha was only seven months old, she was walking in the jungle with her mother, a logging elephant, when she stepped onto a landmine and lost part of her right front leg. Mosha was fortunate to have had a mahout who cared and had resources enough to contact Friends of the Asian Elephant, home to the world's first elephant hospital, where she was rushed to. Her life was saved and her wound treated, but Mosha began to shun both food and company.

Mosha was not the first and won't be the last elephant, or man, to be injured by landmines. A worrying 16 of Thailand's 77 provinces are still affected by landmines, and Friends of The Asian Elephant (FAE) Hospital has treated over a dozen such injuries over the years.

Again, chance and fortune led to a meeting with Dr. Therdchai Jivacate an orthopaedic surgeon who made Mosha her first prosthetic leg from plastic, sawdust and metal, which has the ability to support her weight (adult elephants weigh around 5 tonnes) as well as offer her mobility, much needed in an active and naughty young elephant!

As Mosha has grown, she has had to be fitted with a new prosthesis and now at 14 years old, she is a healthy and vibrant young elephant with a long life ahead of her. She will need a new prosthesis every year until she stops growing at 20 years old.

MOSHA IS THE INSPIRATION
FOR ELEPHANT PARADE.

WE HAVE PLEDGED TO SUPPORT HER
FOR THE REST
OF HER LONG &
HAPPY DAYS.

Khun Soraida Salwala, the founder of FAE.

Maria Hegedus

Taiwan 2016

Upon moving to the UAE, I was inspired by the multicultural clothing worn by different nationalities. In particular, the bright headscarves worn by many women and sold in the souqs. I also experienced getting henna and fell in love with the intricately detailed designs. I combined both of these elements in my design in a design that celebrates the beauty of women.

LOVE SEES NO COLOUR

Artist:
Maureen Knobben

Ootmarsum 2020

People often think inside of boxes. Something is either black or white, which makes us less tolerant of each other. People are also sometimes opposed in terms of black and white. But with "Love Sees No Colour!", love connects everything. If we try to be better towards each other, then the world looks a lot more beautiful.

Marc & Mike Spits

Elephant Parade was founded by Marc Spits in 2006.

Whilst on holiday in Thailand, Marc met a baby elephant named Mosha, who had lost part of her leg after stepping on a landmine. Mosha inspired Marc and Mike to create Elephant Parade.

The first Elephant Parade exhibition was held in Rotterdam, The Netherlands in 2007. Friends of the Asian Elephant Hospital, Mosha's home base in Lampang Thailand, was the first organization to receive contributions generated by Elephant Parade and structurally continues to receive funds for taking care of Mosha.

ELEPHANT FAMILY

Elephant Family is Elephant Parade's charity partner. They are a leading charity for Asian elephants, a species which has lost 95% of its habitat and 90% of its population in the past 100 years.

Supporting over 160 projects across Asia since their foundation in 2001, Elephant Family has funded projects in six of the 13 remaining elephant range states: Cambodia, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Myanmar and Thailand.

They work with world-renowned conservation experts to deliver the best possible defence against the destruction of Asian elephants, and the diverse wildlife that share their habitat.

They believe in creative conservation. Hosting large-scale public art events in order to mobilise public concern is at the core of our strategy. If the endangered Asian elephant is to survive, our efforts must be both fun and fearless. To win support it's plight must become known.
